Horrible Accident.

Tuesday morning while burning some trash in the garden the clothing of Mrs. Drusie Wright, widow of the late B. Frank Wright caught fire and burned the body horribly. She ran to a pond near by and extinguished the flames, but she was so seriously burned that she passed away early yesterday morning. Her son and only child John T. Wright, of Illinois has been telegraphed for, when the funeral arrangements will be made.

She is survived by her son above mentioned, and three brothers, Messrs. R. T. Kennon, J. M. Kennon and Lyle Kennon, and three sisters, Mesdames Ann French, Jennie Russell and J. W. Williams all of this county.

The "Peace Oaks."

The great oak trees in the garden at the White House are known as the "Peace Oaks." They were planted previous to the Civil war by John J. Crittenden and James B. Beck, of Kentucky. These men, who were representing the state of Kentucky in the United States senate, attempted to defer the war by means of a peace conference. Their failure was symbolized by planting two acorns, from which grew these carefully guarded trees.

Two small seedling oaks—"Peace Trees"—sprouted from acorns the fruit of the "Peace Oaks," have been sent from the botanical gardens in Washington to be planted in one of the public parks in Kentucky.

Careful investigations show that the average business man walks a mile in 18½ minutes while the ordinary loiterer who never had any business requires 20 minutes to walk the same distance.

New Mail Order.

The postal authorities at Washington recognizing the liability of postmasters to make mistakes in getting letters in the wrong boxes, have fixed a penalty of 200 dollars on persons taking mail out of the office other than their own and not returning it at once. This Law also includes newspapers. The excuse that it is the postmaster's fault makes no difference. If you have been getting other people's mail you had better take warning or you may get yourself into trouble.

Getting Busy.

We notice that our Congressman John W. Langley is working overtime trying to redeem some of his campaign pledges—to build a dozen bridges, government buildings, 13,000 miles of turnpikes, besides placing all the old home guards on the pension list and many other such items too numerous to mention. Now, John, don't forget our bridge, we are needing it pretty badly these days.—Estill Herald.

Dies from Diphtheria.

A little son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Milton, who returned from this city to Illinois a few weeks ago, is dead of diphtheria. Four other of Mr. Milton's children have the same disease. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of a host of Kentucky friends in this and Estill county their former home.

At the recent examination in Prof. Tracy's private school in which he offered a prize for best grade, the metal was awarded to Miss Blanche Shearer, she gaining an average of 99 %. Misses Jessie Gaylord and Martha D. Rose were close seconds and made an average of 98 %.

Easter comes this year the second Sunday in April—the 11th.

Cash Graves Insane.

Oash Graves, the daring and for quite awhile successful horse-thief, is insane in the Lexington asylum, having been transferred there from the penitentiary recently.

Graves made a rade through here about twelve years ago with two stolen horses, officers closely pursuing. He was overtaken just outside the city limits on the Spout Spring road and fired at when Asa Snowden was shot instead and came near dying. Graves here eluded the officers and moved to Missouri where he reformed and married, but was finally found by the Kentucky authorities and brought back to this state, tried and pardoned. He lived a reformed life for a few years after, but finally broke out in his old job, stole two horses, and was sent to the pen from Grant county where he was confined when he went insane.

Small-Pox in Powell.

Andy Ledford living on Snow creek, this county, has broken out with small-pox at his home. Dr. Martin is attending him and reports that while he has had a pretty severe attack he is getting along very nicely now. Several exposures in the family have been made, but aside from this it is likely that the disease will not spread further. Mr. Ledford has no idea where he contracted the disease as he has not been out of the county for nearly five weeks, than to Mt. Sterling court.

All of the family exposed has been vaccinated and it is thought that the disease will be confined to them alone.

Kicking out of Large Contracts.

A story comes from Lexington that several independent tobacco firms, who purchased some of the Burley Society pool last fall, had thrown many hogsheds of their purchase back on the hands of the society. By taking advantage of a clause in the contract in reference to the delivery of the tobacco, it is alleged that many independent firms may repudiate their contracts. For this cause, it is said, much delay has occurred in the payment of money due to the growers in the pool. This contingency has also had its effect on the proposed pool for 1909 crop.

We were in error last week when we stated that Miss Mary Lyle was qualified as one of the teachers' examiners. She was qualified as Notary Public. The Rev. J. M. Adams has been appointed as examiner, and he together with Supt. Irvin and Mrs. Sylvia Russel constitute the board of examiners.

Mrs. W. N. Bush is receiving a most beautiful collection of millinery and millinery requisites for the Spring trade. Mrs. Bush possesses superior ability in making and trimming hats to order and to please. See her announcement in this issue of the Times.

Judge Allie W. Young, of Mt. Sterling, is being prominently mentioned as a Democratic candidate for Governor of Kentucky.

Who Pays the Bill.

After all the to-do that preceded it, the Teddy administration ended in a farce, says an exchange. His expedition to Africa was to be half paid by the Smithsonian Institute. The joke of this is, that he, as President, was the head of the Institute when the generous offer was made him—by himself. But that is not all. The Institute went after money for him, and is said to have collected $25,000 more. Five thousand dollars of this came from Harriman, the man Roosevelt so vehemently denounced, and $5,000 from the Rockefeller interests which he tried so strenuously to destroy! This completes the farce of it. No wonder the President turned pale the minute his stunt was over, and left the stage. The applause was deafening and the laughter a general thing.

Indirect Taxes.

Indirect taxes is the easiest way to skin jaspers who can't think clearly. Most any fellow you meet cannot tell you how much he actually pays for the support of the national government. It is in the price of his food, clothing and other things, hid away in schedules of original costs, and he doesn't know that he pays anything. Most of them think the foreigners are paying the tariff. Do you wonder that such easy suckers are skinned out of a million a day?

A Little Dry Weather.

Up till yesterday we had no rain to amount to anything for more than a week. The roads have dried up wonderfully and are now about right to travel were they not quite so rough. Early gardeners have gotten in some work.

To Consult the Will of People.

Indications are that President Taft in making Federal appointments in the South intends to consult as far as possible the wishes of the Senators from the states in which the offices are to be filled. In pursuance of this policy the President has had an interview with some Southern Senators regarding the distribution of some offices in their states.

To Remove Stamps.

Bore a large hole in it to the depth of about fifteen inches; put into the opening a handful of saltpeter and fill with water. Plug the hole and allow it to remain closed for about four months.—Then remove the plug and pour about a gallon of kerosene into it to saturate the stump. Set the mass of wood on fire and the whole thing, roots and all, will be consumed.

Oil from Cackle Burr.

Our people will be glad to learn that an oil is now being extracted from the much despised and bothersome cackle burr. A fine grade of oil is being extracted from the burr in at least one mill in the South.

Monday March 22 was the summer solstice on which date the days and nights are everywhere of equal length. The days will now gradually grow longer until June 22 when they take a turn for longer.

Said to be Fine.

Few people here know that you can cure that dread American disease, Rheumatism, with just common, everyday drugs found in any drug store. The prescription is so simple that any one can prepare it at home at small cost. It is made up as follows: Get from any good prescription pharmacy Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. These are all simple ingredients, making an absolutely harmless home remedy at little cost.

Rheumatism as every one knows, is a symptom of deranged kidneys. It is a condition produced by the failure of the kidneys to properly filter or strain from the blood the uric acid and other matter, which, if not eradicated, either in the urine or through the skin pores, remains in the blood, decomposes and forms about the joints and muscles, causing the untold suffering and deformity of rheumatism.

This prescription is said to be a splendid healing, cleansing and invigorating tonic to the kidneys, and gives almost immediate relief in all forms of bladder and urinary troubles and backache.

W. H. Harrison, of the Confederate Veteran Home at Pewee Valley is visiting relatives in the county.

Learn to laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine. Learn how to tell a story. A well told story is a welcome sunbeam in a sick room. The world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows. Learn to keep your own troubles to yourself. Learn to stop croaking. If you cannot see any good in the world, keep the bad to yourself. Learn to hide your pains and aches under pleasant smiles. No one cares whether you have the earache, headache, or rheumatism. Don't cry. Tears do well enough in novels but are out of place in real life. Learn to meet your friends with a smile. A good humored man or woman is always welcome, but the dyspeptic is not wanted anywhere and is a nuisance as well. Above all, give pleasure. Lose no chance of giving pleasure. You will pass through this world but once. Any good thing, therefore; that you can show to any human being, you had better now; do not defer or neglect it, for you will not pass this way again.

Shears and Sawbuck kept a store Such as never was before. City folks they wouldn't sell, Couldn't let them have a smell. Fetched their money—but by jing, Couldn't buy a blessed thing. Couldn't meet 'em face to face And then sell 'em w'th good grace.

Country trade was what they sought, Folks who'd pay for what they bought 'Fore they saw it, hide or tall. They sent a catalogue by mail Out to every blessed one Gettin' mail at Possum Run. We set up at night and read, When we'd order been in bed.

Book was 'bout as big as sin— Had a lot of pictures in. And a list of merchandise, Every kind and every size— Givin' prices that they swore Knocked out any country store. Looked so straight and seemed so true I bit at it—Jim did too.

Jim's my neighbor 'cross the way, Best man ever worked in bay; Just let him top off a stock, Sheds rain like a turtle's back. Pleasure just to see him work, Never knew of Jim to shirk, Swings a soythe like it was play, Love to watch him in his way.

Well, we, like a pair of fools, sent off; Got some hayin' tools. Jim got a harness and a plow, I, a range—I see it now. Drat the thing, it was so light Used it for a torch at night; Threwed the darh thing in the yard, Use it now for renderin' lard.

'Fore Jim used the plow an hour Found the thing wouldn't scoure; Tried his harness—broke a tug— Sought for solace in his jug. In the cooler all that night Jim reflected on his plight; In the morning, Richard Stout, Hardware merchant, bailed him out.

Jim said after that he'd stick Close as bark to good ol' Dick. Since he left the Possum jail Says he won't buy goods by mail; Says Dick's cheaper anyhow— Might have saved some on the plow, On the other goods some more, At his old friend's hardware store.

Jim says, we can't sell no truck To sleh folks as Shears Sawbuck. They'll take all our cash away, But won't buy our corn or hay. That seemed purty strange to me, So I told ol' Jim I'd see— So I wrote them that night Just to see if Jim was right.

As't them "what they's pay for outs? Could they use some likely shoats? Had about four tons of hay I could ship 'em right away. Could I furnish Mr. Shears With his family roasin' end? Also would my friend Sawbuck Buy some of my garden truck? Answer came one summer day. Said they couldn't use our hay; Couldn't use our oats or shoats, Didn't like our billy goats. When they needed truck to eat Bought it down on Water street— Sorry, but they must refuse Anything but cash to use.

I set down and wrote 'em then: "Hate to trouble you again, But I want to thank you, sirs, For your bunch of cackle bars; If you love your fellow-man, Do him, good sirs, when you can— While our merchants sweetly sleep Shears & Sawbuck shear our sheep.

The Year Without a Summer.

The year 1816 has a remarkable cold weather record and is known as "the year without a summer." In that year there was a sharp frost in every month, and the people all over the world began to believe that some great and definite change in the earth was taking place. The farmers used to refer to it as "eighteen hundred and starve to death." Frost, ice and snow were common in June. Almost every green thing was killed, and the fruit was nearly all destroyed. During the month snow fell to the depth of three inches in New York and Massachusetts and ten inches in Maine. There were frost and ice in July in New York, New England and Pennsylvania, and corn was nearly all destroyed in certain sections. Ice half an inch thick formed in August. A cold north wind prevailed all summer.
